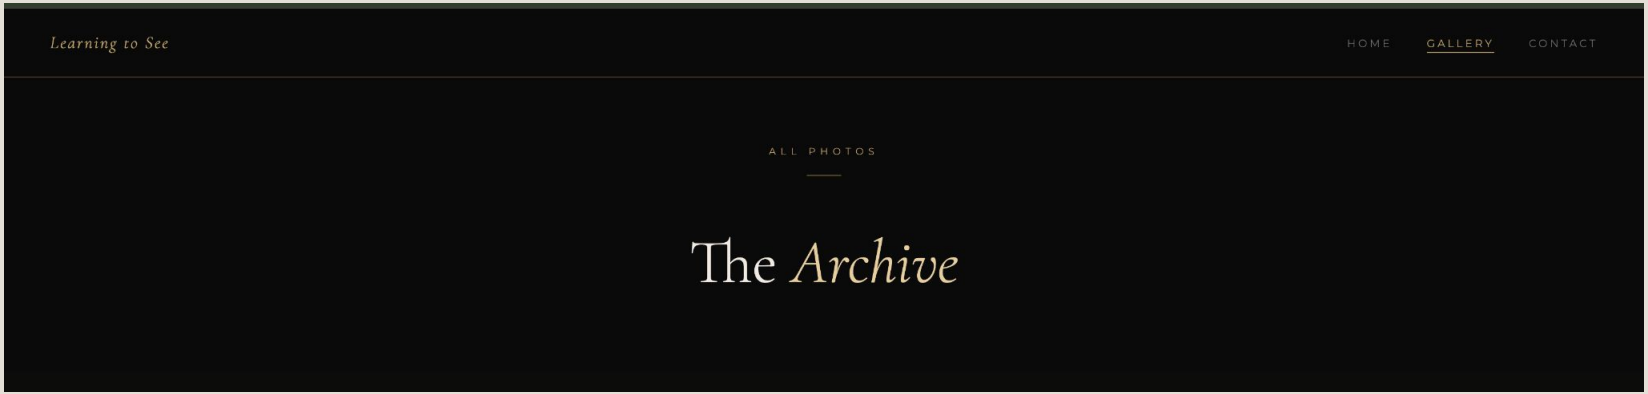
Continue with Midterm Project

- Allow users to switch between different color mode (Dark mode/Bright mode)

- Add a personalized greeting message for users. Display sentence: Hi! XXX, would you like me to take a portrait for you?



Add a filtering system that users can view different categories of photos (portrait, landscape, street...).

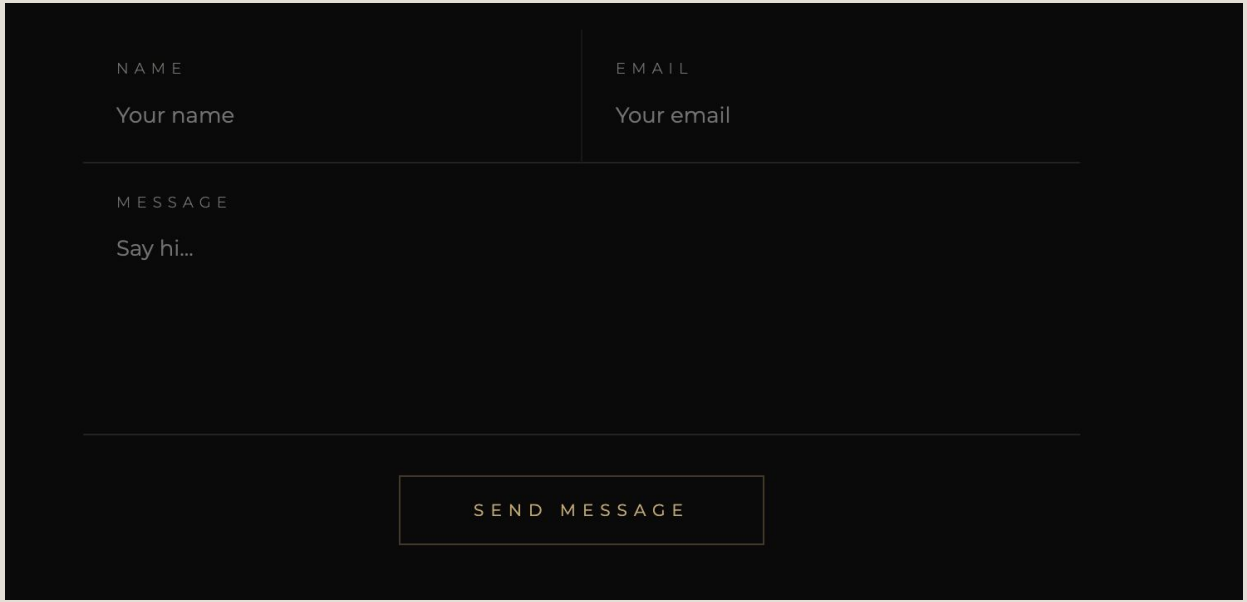
Show random selected photos instead of those fixed ones on the homepage each time the page loads.



Add validation to the contact form to check user input. So when the user put a wrong information or leave a field empty, the website will display a error message.
